DAGGAHBUR LEFT IN RUINS BY ITALIAN BOMBING SQUADRON

M. Laval, above, hopes to be able to leave Paris in a week's time to attend the Committee of Eighteen's meeting at Geneva.

PROSPECTS IN AMERICA COUNTRY TO-DAY IS SOLVENT PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT OPTIMISTIC

New York, To-day.
The Government has 3,125,000 unemployed on work relief jobs, declared President Roosevelt at a mass meeting at Atlanta yesterday. The remaining 375,000 of the 3,500,000 whom it is proposed to employ are under orders to report for work, and many are ready to start.
He declared that there had been a tremendous increase in morale through substituting work for the dole. The dole outraged every instinct of independence.
Expressing optimism regarding the coming year, the President said in the light of the continuing economic improvement: "We have passed the peak of the appropriations. Revenues, without the imposition of new taxes, are increasing. We can look forward to a decreasing deficit."
He claimed that the credit of the Government was higher than that of any other great nation. "We were insolvent," he said. "To-day we are solvent."

DIRECT DOLE ABOLISHED
Washington: The complete liquidation of the Federal emergency relief administration has been announced by Mr. Harry Hopkins, the administrator. The termination of the direct dole for unemployed is regarded as a distinct triumph for the Government.
Over $3,000,000,000 has been spent in Federal relief since May 1933. Officials decline to comment on the possibility that further sums may be necessary for the 4,000,000 men who cannot be employed, for whom the Government has declared that the local authorities are responsible.
It is learned that certain States in which there are many unemployed men have been allotted sufficient cash to continue the dole for the time being.—Reuter.

LOCAL DOLLAR STEADY Silver Prices Firm

The local dollar is steady, opening on demand this morning at 1/5 1/2 (nominal).
Silver prices were steady at "spot" 29 3/16 and "forward" at 28 1/2.
The London on New York cross-rate was quoted at $-U.S.44.38% as compared with $-U.S.44.36% while the New York on London cross-rate was quoted at $-U.S.44.36%.

BRITAIN'S EXAMPLE TO BE FOLLOWED? DEVALUATION APPEAL IN FRANCE

"GENERAL STABILITY OF PRICES MERELY A MYTH"

Paris, To-day.
The Government's majority on the finance issue was larger than was anticipated, and it is now expected that the Government will win through the Fascist League debate next week. During last night's debate the Finance Minister, M. Regnier, said that the flight of gold had been a catastrophe since November 4. He therefore asked for a massive vote to enable him to take measures against speculators and newspapers running campaigns to bring them to the threshold of panic and crisis.

The motion, on which the vote was taken, proposed by the Left, Centre and Radical Deputies, reads: "The Chamber, observing the temporary character of the economy decrees, expresses confidence in the Government to pursue the defence of the franc, and calls upon the Government to apply immediately alleviations in favour of small civil servants, teachers and ex-servicemen."
M. Laval made a quiet and dignified appeal. He referred to the example of England. When she was faced with the same difficulties she resorted to the same methods. He thanked the Radicals for their support. The vote was then taken.

Mr. Laval is trying to surmount another difficult hurdle, following Thursday's success. Numerous speakers in the Chamber yesterday criticised his financial policy. It was expected that the Premier would demand a second vote of confidence late last night, and was anticipated to obtain a smaller majority than Thursday's.
Critics contrasted the British and French policies to the detriment of the latter.

TWO GERMANS KILLED Eurasia Plane Makes Forced Landing

Shanghai, To-day.
Two Germans were killed near Lingtao on Wednesday last when an Eurasia plane flying from Lanchow to Sian made a forced landing. Two Chinese passengers were injured. The dead are Captain Brohm and the mechanic, Mayer.—Reuter.

One of the most important utterances was delivered in the afternoon by M. Paul Reynaud, the Right leader and former Finance Minister. He strongly appealed for devaluation and declared that France's loss of gold could not continue much longer.
Devaluation, however, should be carried out at a time of calm, not of crisis. Britain and the United States practically overcame the depression through devaluation, while France was dragging herself through a slough of misery, with unemployment rising.

BLIND SUPPORTERS
The crisis was now at its worst in the countries which had failed to solve the problem of the high cost of living. He declared that if England in 1921 by means of sacrifices had not maintained the pound sterling, despite the collapse of world prices, it would have meant an indescribable catastrophe for the whole world. The supporters of orthodox finance were really blind. They could not see that England had rendered a great service in abandoning the gold standard.
"The general stability of prices" was a myth, which Mr. Neville Chamberlain recently exploded, and the rising of world prices was another myth, which meant additional losses to France, when it could include her imported raw materials.—Reuter.

The last photograph made of Luigi Vinciguerra, Italian Minister to Ethiopia, before he dramatically locked himself in the Legation rather than depart to safety with his staff, shows him with his wife at an Addis Ababa ceremony preceding the Feast of Makkal, which celebrates the end of Ethiopia's rainy season.

HO LOOKS TO PERSONAL SAFETY CONNECTION WITH AUTONOMOUS REGIME REPUDIATED

Nanking, To-day.
Mr. Ho Shih arrived from Peiping on Thursday night, and declared that his participation in the inauguration of the new regime at East Hopei was a ruse to ensure his personal safety. Mr. Yin Ju-keng on November 25 summoned him to Tungchow, where he was forced to sign the declaration of autonomy.

U.S.S.R. PROTEST TO JAPAN Illegal Navigation Of Rivers Alleged

Moscow, To-day.
The Soviet Government has protested through diplomatic channels to Japan against Japanese vessels illegally navigating the Amur, Sungaria and Ussuri Rivers, and has demanded that investigations be made and steps taken to prevent a repetition.—Reuter.

COLONY DEFENCE CONTRIBUTION Twenty Per Cent. Of Revenues

An Ordinance to amend the Defence Contribution Ordinance of 1901 is published in the Government Gazette. One of the chief points in it is that a sum equivalent to 20 per cent. of the Colonial revenues shall be appropriated yearly to the Imperial Government as a contribution to the defence of the Colony.

POSTPONEMENT OF NAVAL CONFERENCE

London, To-day.—The opening meeting of the Naval Conference at the Foreign Office, at which the Prime Minister will speak, has been fixed for 10.30 a.m. on Monday, December 9.
The postponement from Saturday next has had to be made owing to delays experienced by the United States delegation in reaching London.—British Wireless Service.

PRAYING WOMEN ARE BLOWN TO PIECES ETHIOPIAN GOVERNMENT COMMUNIQUE

GENEVA WILL DISCUSS OIL EMBARGO ON DECEMBER 12

Addis Ababa, To-day.
Only a few houses remain standing in Dagga-hbur, following constant bombardment by an Italian squadron, according to an Ethiopian Government communique. About 1,500 bombs fell in the town, including many of the incendiary type, which left buildings in a sheet of flame. The experienced troops escaped, as they were the quickest in running to cover immediately the attacking bombers were sighted.

A number of women praying in the temporary church erected to take the place of the one destroyed in a previous air raid were blown to pieces by a veritable hail of bombs.—Reuter.
Geneva: The Committee of Eighteen will meet on December 12 to consider the imposition of an oil embargo on Italy. Italy's reaction to the proposed oil embargo is not likely to influence the Powers concerned. There is a strong feeling that the Committee of Eighteen should be convened early next week in order to emphasize that the League has decided not to trifle with the question. However, as M. Laval is unable to visit Geneva next week it is necessary to postpone the meeting until the following week.—Reuter.

ASmara, To-day.
Marshal Badoglio's first official action was to order the disarmament of the entire population of the occupied territory. This measure is being carried out with the greatest rigour, since recently Italian troops have very frequently been attacked in the rear.

Abyssinian deserters are also required to hand over their antiquated firearms, in exchange for which they receive brand new Italian rifles. Their chiefs must answer with their heads if these are ever used by their followers against Italians.

MUNITION DUMPS DESTROYED
Rome: The 58th war bulletin reports that the columns are continuing their operations on the First Army Corps' front in Danakil. On the Eritrean Army Corps' front the advance section at the Abaro Pass dispersed armed Abyssinian sections. On the Second Army Corps' front a mixed column in the Maigaletti territory came across army groups, which were put to flight, a number of prisoners being taken. On the Somali front aircraft bombed the Abyssinian positions at Dagga-hbur, destroying various munition dumps.

ITALIAN HOSPITAL SHIPS
Rome: Five large passenger steamers, with a total of 4,000 berths, have been equipped by the Italian Government for medical and Red Cross services with the Italian expeditionary force in East Africa, and three other vessels, with a total of 3,000 berths, are in preparation, making 7,000 beds in all. The cabins are provided with automatic air-conditioning. These eight steamers will be used for the transport of the sick and wounded, and the remainder will be used as quarantine ships for soldiers and workmen stricken with contagious diseases, to remain in the port of Massawa.—Trans-Ocean Service.

GOLD COLLECTIONS
Rome: The Italian bishops are the most active participants in the gold collections organized as a defensive measure against sanctions, according to press reports, which state that the Italian church dignitaries are enthusiastically supporting the national aims and have given a ready response to the Archbishop of Monreale's suggestion that the churches, monasteries and places of pilgrimage should hand over to the Government all gold treasures presented them by worshippers and pilgrims, receiving in return 5 per cent. war loan.

This suggestion, it is said, has already been carried out in numerous cases, and the patriotic attitude of the clergy has made a deep impression on the population, to whom the papers uphold it as a shining example.

SORDID CASE OF SHOOTING SON WOUNDED BY MOTHER

INCIDENT AT DRINKING PARTY
Santa Barbara, Cal., To-day.
The police accuse Mrs. Livermore of shooting her son. The Under-Sheriff says that both mother and son had been drinking and according to a guest who witnessed the incident, the former told her son that she would sooner see him dead than drinking to excess.
The boy then went to a cupboard and got a rifle and handed it to his mother, saying: "Well, here you are." The mother fired and the bullet entered his chest.
Mrs. Livermore was divorced from her husband in 1932. Later she re-married him and was again divorced from him in 1934. It is feared that the boy's wounds will prove fatal.—Reuter.
An earlier message stated that Jesse Livermore, Jr., aged 15, the son of the famous "Wall Street business man" Jesse Livermore, had been taken to hospital at Los Angeles, critically wounded in the head and back. The police stated that the shooting occurred at the mansion of Mrs. Dorothy Livermore, living apart from her husband. She had been taken to hospital in a hysterical condition.

YEAR'S LEASE
The Italian churches in Italy possess enormous riches in gold, and the papers estimate that if all these are turned over to the State and each inhabitant in addition contributes only a little more than (Continued on Page 12)

This map shows where the Italian and British forces are active near the Libyan-Egyptian border in unprecedented warlike preparations. Italy is reported to have 57,000 white troops and 48 bombing planes in Libya.

One of the thousands of drums that resounded through Ethiopia as the Italians invaded the country, summoning tribesmen to hear the Emperor's call to arms. This is one of the first photographs from Addis Ababa since the invasion.

It was rumored in European capitals that the capture of Adowa (shown), might satisfy Italian pride and bring about an early close of her invasion of Ethiopia, but the hopes were unfounded. It was here that the Italian tanks were annihilated in 1896. The commander of the 1935 defenders was Ras Kassa (left), Governor of the district.

Cavalry, out of date in most armies, is being used by both Italy and Ethiopia in the rough country on the Ogaden (southern) front, where there are no roads. Ethiopian cavalry is here seen advancing in this exclusive war picture.

THE NITWITS—KING'S THEATRE

Combining fast-stepping music and spine-tingling thrills with their own insane brand of hilarity, "The Nitwits," Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey's newest comedy hit, is different to anything they have done heretofore. The elements of melodrama and musical comedy are so lavished that each could be the basis of an individual production. In keeping with the atmosphere of Tin Pan Alley, that traditional birthplace of America's popular songs, "The Nitwits" introduces these new melodies: "You Opened My Eyes," "The Black Widow Will Get You If You Don't Watch Out" and "Music in My Heart."

The murder mystery is a melodramatic theme developed by Stuart Palmer, whose ability for concocting deft mystery is ascertained by his "Penguin Pool Murder" and "Murder on a Honey-moon." "The Black Widow," a mysterious blackmailer, has been terrorising the city, and chooses a song publishing magnate, as his next victim. Wheeler and Woolsey loosen their comic-sleuthing melinations, but are baffled by the many suspects—the wife who is jealous of the secretary, the company auditor who has juggled accounts, and a song-writer who believes the company is absorbing his royalties. The clue-tracers are relentless, and, in their slapstick antics, stumble upon the solution.

"PURSUIT"—ALHAMBRA THEATRE

Drama moves on wheels in a lilted comedy romance with thrills and gripping drama in "Pursuit." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayor's fast-moving story of adventure on the highways and byways.

It deals with the adventures of a young couple trying to smuggle a child, the object of a guardianship suit, out of the state. Pursued by private detectives, crooks and all kinds of enemies, they hide out in auto camps and farms and in a clever denouement win the Mexican border. Highways between San Francisco and San Diego figure as locations.

Chester Morris, who scored an outstanding hit in "Public Hero," and Sally Eilers, recently seen in "Dance Team," play the fugitive couple, with Scotty Beckett, of "Our Gang" comedies, as the child, C. Henry Gordon as the private detective and Henry Travers as the comical paperhanger.

STAMP COLLECTORS

By A. E. L.

THE philatelic world has sustained a loss in Sir George Captain G. T. Bishop, who died on October 4. His death is of particular interest to local collectors, as he was a recognised authority on Hong Kong stamps. The G.S.M. recently published a very interesting series of articles by him on Hong Kong issues.

South West Africa.—The Road Daily Mail announces that the Voortrekker stamps which South Africa issued in May, 1935, have now been overprinted for use in South West Africa. The fact that they are only now being introduced into this territory suggests that South African contributions towards the Memorial Fund have not been so liberal as was anticipated.

Straits Settlements.—In spite of the reported rush for Malayan Jubilee stamps we learn that as there are sufficient stocks in hand no further printings of the Straits Settlements Jubilee issue will be required. They are to be withdrawn on December 31.

"ANNAPOLIS FAREWELL"—QUEEN'S THEATRE

America's navy, a fighting unit, of which they are justly proud, has often been the background for pictures in the past—but now Paramount, in the endeavour to do for that service what they did for the army in "Lives of a Bengal Lancer" have produced "Annapolis Farewell."

For those who do not fully appreciate the meaning of the title it should be explained that Annapolis is America's great naval training college.

The picture has romance, thrills and humour, but it is in thrills that the film abounds. Actual photographs of giant battleships in action, destroyers racing past, submarines diving and firing torpedoes at the same time, while aeroplanes zoom overhead are the keynotes of the film.

The cast is headed by that famous British actor Sir Guy Standing, and Rosalind Keith, Tom Brown and Richard Cromwell are in support.

"THE CRUSADES"—ORIENTAL THEATRE

"The Crusades" is set on a magnificent scale. Its story sweeps along against the background of one of the most amazing mass movements in history, and Cecil B. DeMille has impregnated every foot of his film with the feeling of the period and the event. He has peopled his sets with an army that springs to vivid, pulsing life.

The storming of Acre and the cavalry charge at Jerusalem are the two high points of the film from a spectacle angle. More than 10,000 persons performed in them. You will gasp as you see men dying in the flaming oil poured on them by the opposing armies.

"OUR LITTLE GIRL"—MAJESTIC THEATRE

Shirley Temple enthusiasts—and their number is growing with each of her pictures—will flock to the Majestic Theatre to-night where she is appearing in one of her most delightful roles, in "Our Little Girl."

"THE GAY DIVORCEE"—STAR THEATRE

By special request, "The Gay Divorcee," one of the most popular pictures produced by Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, will be shown at the Star Theatre to-day only.

The film is filled with catchy songs, witty dialogues, and comic humour, while the story is both amusing and interesting.

Queen's Head design have been despatched to the Protectorate.

Zanzibar

The Crown Agents' Bulletin announces that a complete new issue of Postage and Revenue and Postage Due stamps in East African cents and shillings currency is in preparation and may therefore be expected soon. The watermark and designs resemble those of the present issue, the cents values being in the Sultan's Head design, the 1/-, 2/-, 5/- and 7s. 6d. in the vertical Native Craft type and the 10/- in the horizontal type. Postage Due stamps are in a design of standard size.

The values and colours will be as follows:—
Postage Stamps. 5 c. green, 10 c. black, 15 c. red, 20 c. orange, 25 c. purple on yellow, 30 c. blue, 40 c. sepia, 50 c. purple, 1/- green, 2/- purple, 5/- red, 7s. 6d. blue, 10/- green and brown.

Postage Due stamps. 5 c. blue, purple, 10 c. red, 20 c. green, 30 c. blue, 40 c. brown, 1/- grey.

The Philatelic Magazine announces that a new Air Mail commemorative set is to be issued by the Mozambique Company. This is to consist of a series of ten attractive triangular air mail stamps, and was due for issue on October 1 to commemorate the inauguration of an air mail service in the territory. This service will provide a connecting link between Beira and Salisbury. The values and colours are as under: the central vignette is in brown on the 60c. and in black on all other values. 5c. blue; 10c. brick red; 15c. carmine; 20c. light green; 30c. blue-green; 40c. light blue; 45c. bright blue; 50c. violet; 60c. carmine; 80c. vermilion.

The set is to be on sale for one month only, but a permanent air mail series of rectangular design will come into use after the triangular stamps are withdrawn. They will be "bi-coloured" and the central vignette will be the same as the triangular, although the frames will be different.

The very attractive centenary set in St. Helena last year is now rising in value. It seems unlikely that in a year's time this set will be obtainable at double face value, as is the case now. The postmaster was keen enough to circulate wholesale buyers as to when applications should be sent in, but apparently, notwithstanding this, some of the orders arrived too late to receive attention.

Dealers are vigorously refusing to have anything to do with the pictorial stamps alleged to be issued of Tannou Touva (North Mongolia) which have appeared on the market during the past twelve months. Proof is still wanting that these labels have ever been in normal postal use in their alleged country of origin, and this proof does not appear likely to be found easily, as the whole of the first issue consisted of "Registered" and "Air" stamps, many of them of denominations too low to be associated with those services. In the spring of this year a second pictorial issue appeared which, on the face of it, seemed to be entirely for the benefit (?) of stamp collectors. Neither of these issues is listed in Gibbons' catalogue.

11 and 21. 150,000 each.

Strength-Showing Response

By Ely Culbertson

When a player opens the bidding with one of a suit and then receives a one-over-one response, a jump to two notrump is a very strong bid. When the responding hand's one-over-one call is made on as good as an Ace, King and Queen, a raise to three notrump is practically compulsory. North and South reached a game contract in such a manner on the hand below, but with every finesse wrong it required very fine play by the declarer to fulfil the contract.

West opened the four of hearts, which declarer took in the dummy with the ten. Spot The three of diamonds was returned. East playing low and South's Queen held. Declarer cashed his Ace and King of clubs hoping to catch the Queen as a doubleton in the adverse hands. Failing in this he continued the suit to establish his Jack.

West's Queen won and the diamond ten was led. North playing a low card. East overtook with the Jack and returned the nine of hearts. South went right up with his Ace to hold the trick.

Declarer cashed his good Jack of clubs, on which West discarded a low heart, North, a diamond and East, a spade. With only five cards in each hand, declarer had a fairly accurate count of the opponents' hands.

He entered the dummy with the Ace of spades and led the Queen of hearts, throwing West in with the King. West cashed his good eight spot and had nothing but the Queen-ten of spades left. Declarer was waiting for him with the King-Jack to fulfil his contract.

Had West discarded a low spade instead of the heart on the Jack of clubs lead, the end-play would have failed and West would have been able to take the setting trick in hearts.

A 76 c. vermilion, recess-printed stamp bearing the portrait of the famous French sculptor and painter, Jacques Callot, many of whose productions adorn the Louvre, is being prepared to commemorate the centenary of the artist's death.

SEA-MONSTER ASHORE

Giant Lizard On Miami Coast

Miami, Florida.—A sea monster six feet long and resembling a giant lizard with spines down his back, was washed up on the Florida coast by the Ferric sea that followed the September hurricane that took almost 500 lives.

A photograph was taken of the beast as it lay at full length across the road in one of the Florida Keys. Unlike the photographs of the Loch Ness monster, this was taken at such close quarters that it leaves no doubt at all as to the existence of this creature.

Giant Igguana?

When the photographer returned to Miami a search was immediately organised for the monster. It had apparently slipped back into the sea, however.
Naturalists who have seen the photograph have suggested that it may be some giant iguana carried across the Gulf of Mexico from the coast of South America by the unusual force of the sea.—Reuter

TWO BIG CRICKET CLASHES

K.C.C. SHOULD BEAT THE ARMY

STRONG NAVY XI AGAINST CLUB

(By L.B.W.)

THE league cricket programme for to-day is an exceptionally attractive one in that two very important matches in the senior division are due to be played off, and each one of the teams concerned may be said to be in the running for the championship.

The Kowloon Cricket Club will be at home to the Army, and after the latter's failure against the Indians last week, coupled with the fact that Kowloon will have the advantage of playing at home, the chances are that the home team will take the points. On the Navy ground, the Senior Service will meet the Hong Kong Cricket Club and, providing the Navy can field their full team, this game should produce plenty of runs with the result very open.

T. M. L. Redmond is making a re-appearance in the Club team and this should strengthen their attack considerably, while G. A. Milbank has also been chosen for this match. I notice that T. E.

Pearce is not playing so that E. R. Duckitt will probably be sent out to open the innings with H. W. Baines.

The Navy have a very strong team out, including two players who figured prominently in local cricket many years ago. I refer to Pay. Comdr. Hargreaves who played for Hong Kong against Shanghai (in Hong Kong) in 1924 when he made 59 runs, and Comdr. Hayter who was the mainstay of the Navy attack in 1920-21. The former still bowls a very useful slow ball, but Hayter has not done much bowling recently, though he may still be relied upon to send down a very useful over or two.

BRAWN CUP GAME FOR TO-DAY

C.B.A. And C.R.S. To Clash

KEEN MATCH EXPECTED

When the C.B.A. Ladies meet the Central British schoolgirls in their Brawn Cup hockey encounter at King's Park this afternoon, they will be out to avenge the severe trouncing they received at the hands of the schoolgirls when they last met.

The individual players are practically the same as turned out on the last occasion, although the formation of the team has been somewhat changed. The only newcomer to the team is Miss O. Peters, who up till to-day has played in the senior team.

She is playing at left-half, and should considerably strengthen that line.

Miss Adam in Goal

Miss M. Adam, who was tried in the half line in their last encounter, is now between the sticks, where her hard-hitting tactics can be used to the greatest advantage.

The schoolgirls are fielding exactly the same team, which, with Miss H. Martin at left-back, proved to be very strong in defence in their last match.

C.B.A.—Miss M. Adam; Miss D. Wiltchell and Miss A. Hirst; Miss I. Buchanan, Miss G. MacNish and Miss O. Peters; Miss N. Kempton, Miss G. Lakeman, Miss E. S. Woolley, Miss B. Bone and Miss R. Sumner.

C.R.S.—Miss E. Lohovetsky; Miss M. Bell and Miss E. Martin; Miss J. Humphrey, Miss M. McCaw and Miss C. Bone; Miss M. Booker, Miss J. Booker, Miss A. Martin, Miss J. Lakeman and Miss P. Baxter.

LOSS TO SOCCER

Bedford Favours Rugby

(By "FAIR FIELD")

London, October 25. The swing of the schools from Soccer to Rugby continues. And this in face of the Football Association's strenuous and costly coaching campaign.

Next Wednesday, Bedford elementary schools go over to the Rugby code. Harper Central School, trained by lower sixth Evans—one of the 22 Evanses who have played for Wales—meet Bedford Modern's under-15 side on the Bedford club's ground.

Mr. H. W. Finlinton, the old international and chairman of the Bedford club, will set the ball rolling.

Miss J. Wong, the St. Andrew's Ladies' pivot, above, on whom the brunt of the Recreio Ladies' attack is likely to fall in this afternoon's Caer Clark match.

TAIKOO'S BADMINTON SUCCESS

Kowloon Tong Club Defeated

RECREIO "B" WIN IN MIXED DOUBLES

The Tai Koo Recreation Club caused a sensation in the Mixed Doubles Badminton League when they recorded their first victory of the season by defeating the Kowloon Tong Club by 6 sets to 3 at Quarry Bay last night.

Taikoo obtained two sets in each round, but could not outplay S. A. Gray and Miss A. Mackenzie, who won all their three sets for Kowloon Tong.

At King's Park the St. John's Club sustained their third defeat when they lost to Recreio "B," who, however, had to fight hard for the eight sets they won. St. John's invariably took the lead, but lost towards the end.

R. Koh and Miss D. Hunt, although beaten in every round, played up brilliantly and were at one time leading E. Sousa and Mrs. E. Sousa, the first string of Recreio "B" by 14-10.

Detailed results were as follows:—

C.B.A. LADIES SELECT 7-A-SIDE HOCKEY TEAM

The following team will represent the C.B.A. Ladies in the First Division of the Seven-A-Side Hockey Tournament:

Miss P. K. Walker and Miss P. Woolley, Miss M. Bryson and Miss I. Woolley, Miss W. White, Miss M. Smith and Miss B. Bone.

Mrs. White, the prolific C.B.A. Ladies' goal-scorer, above, will lead their attack against the Recreio Ladies this afternoon at King's Park.

"Y" LADIES AND C.B.A. LADIES IN CAER CLARK TIE

CHANGES MADE BY BOTH TEAMS

MISS ADEY DOUBTFUL STARTER?

The "Y" Ladies, potential champions in the Caer Clark Cup series, will meet with very strong opposition this afternoon when they encounter the Central British Association Ladies at King's Park, commencing at 3 p.m.

The "Y" Ladies will probably have the services of Miss J. Weller between the sticks for the first time this season, the latter having returned to the Colony last Thursday from Home.

There is a faint possibility that Miss J. Adey may not play as she complained of illness on Thursday last soon after the practice knock-out.

Serious Blow
This will mean a serious blow to the "Y" Ladies and will mean a reshuffle on the right wing. In case Miss Adey does not play, Miss V. Bradbury, captain of the junior eleven, will probably fill the right wing berth, while Miss S. Dalziel and Miss O. Dalziel will fill the centre-forward and inside-right positions, respectively.

The Central British Ladies have made one alteration to last week's team, bringing in Miss D. Hunt at inside-left instead of Miss O. Peters, who has been dropped.

"Y" Ladies—Miss J. Weller; Mrs. Read and Miss P. McGraw; Mrs. Brown, Miss E. Thomson and Mrs. Henry; Miss O. Dalziel, Miss S. Dalziel, Miss J. Adey, Miss A. Fowler and Miss M. Westcott.

C.B.A. Ladies—Miss P. Best; Miss P. Woolley and Miss F. K. Walker; Miss I. Woolley, Miss H. Bryson and Miss P. Everest; Miss E. Blackmore; Miss M. Smith, Mrs. M. White, Miss D. Hunt and Miss E. Rousseau.

H.K. LADIES' HOCKEY TRIAL

Colours v Whites At Sookumpoo

The Hong Kong Ladies' Hockey Club have "discovered" an excellent centre-half in the person of Miss K. Glover, who recently returned to the Colony from Home.

Miss Glover took part in the practice knock-out last Wednesday and showed that she is not only a great defensive player but that she is also capable of feeding her forwards in fine style. She will be seen in action to-day, when the Hong Kong Ladies will play an intra-club match.

The following are the teams: Whites—Miss M. Sloan, Miss V. Crispell and Miss G. Swan; M. Bennett, Miss K. Glover and Miss K. Mott; Miss P. Marsh, Miss M. Smalley and Miss B. Heibling.

Colours—Mrs. Lawson, Miss E. Grey and Miss J. Smalley; Miss E. Hanson, Mrs. Bell and Miss C. Ferguson; Mrs. Davis, Miss H. Hance, Mrs. P. M. Harvey, Miss J. Fier and Mrs. V. Blackburn.

SAINTS' LADIES IN QUANDARY FOR TO-DAY'S GAME

MISS CHURN MAY NOT PLAY

RECREIO AT FULL STRENGTH

St. Andrew's Ladies will be in a quandary this afternoon if Miss Molly Churn, their left-half, who was injured in the face last Saturday, should report unfit for play in their match against the Recreio Ladies.

Up to the time of writing, Miss Churn has not stated definitely whether she will be able to turn out or not, but if she is unfit it is likely that Miss I. Gittens, their left-wing, will drop back to the half-back line, and selectors are unable to decide who shall take Miss Gittens' place on the wing.

Recreio Unchanged

The Recreio, who are at full strength, have a side sufficiently strong to test the strength of St. Andrew's, no matter which formation they eventually decide upon.

Miss C. Silva will again lead the attack, ably supported on the left-wing by Miss E. Rozario and Miss B. Remedios. The half-back lines will be led by Miss E. Xavier, an accomplished and experienced player who knows how to use her stick forcefully.

On the whole, the game should be a close one, and victory for either team will probably be decided by a small margin.

Recreio—Miss Z. Barrow; Miss C. Osmond and Miss O. Enderby; Miss L. Silva-Netho, Miss E. Xavier and Miss M. Alves; Miss C. Botelho, Miss A. Alves, Miss C. Silva, Miss E. Rozario and Miss B. Remedios.

St. Andrew's—Mrs. Rose; Miss G. White and Miss E. Stevens; Miss I. George, Miss J. Wong and Miss M. Churn; Miss G. Gittens, Miss J. Booker and Miss I. Gittens.

H.K. BILLIARDS ASSOCIATION

To Hold Two Colony Championships

At a meeting of the newly formed Hong Kong Billiards Association, held in the Board Room of the South China Morning Post yesterday, the draft rules were approved, while a proposal to hold a Junior and Senior Championship of the Colony was unanimously adopted, the entrance fee for these to be $2 and $1 respectively.

Entries will close on December 20. It was agreed that any amateur billiards player, resident in the Colony, be eligible to enter. The senior championship was to be 500 points up in the preliminary rounds, 750 in the semi-finals and 1,000 in the final; the junior to be 300 up in the preliminary rounds, 400 in the semi-finals and 500 in the final.

It was announced that the championships will commence at the beginning of the New Year.

SOUTH AFRICAN CRICKETER DOWN WITH FEVER

D. Tomlinson, one of the South African cricketers who toured England last season, is in hospital at Salisbury, Rhodesia, suffering from enteric fever. He is progressing as well as can be expected.

HO KAR KEUNG TO LEAD ATTACK?

ALL-IMPORTANT MATCH FOR TO-MORROW

NAVY TEAMS STRENGTHENED

OF the four First Division soccer games down for decision this afternoon, only one, that between the Recreio and South China "B," gives promise of exciting sport, while Kowloon, who have been reinforced by the return of "Paddy" Boyd and Oppenheim, should give the re-shuffled Fusilier team a run for their money.

The Recreio are making no changes, but South China "B" have secured the services of Ho Kar-keung, the former Athletic leader, who may add that additional zest to their attack which may carry them through to victory.

In the two other senior games, the Club should secure the points from Lyemun, although they will be without Sid Strange and Skinner, while the Lincolns should perform similarly against Stonecutters.

The most interesting game of the week-end soccer programme, however, is that between South China "A," the present League champions who have so far retained their 100 per cent record, and the Police, the present leaders.

Left Half Position
South China have already made their final selection, with the exception of the left-half berth, which depends upon Lee Kwok-wai's condition. Should he not be able to play, Lau Hing-choi will take his position.

"THE BOMBAY QUADRANGULAR"

Calcutta, November 8.

THE selection of the Nawab of Pataudi, known to English and Australian cricketers as "Pat," as captain of the All-India team to meet the Australians in unofficial Test matches at Bombay, Lahore, Calcutta and Madras, and as captain of the Indian team to visit England next year has been very popularly received in India.

Next to Duleepsinhji, who is still out of the game owing to illness and has hitherto shown no desire to play for India, Pataudi is undoubtedly the most polished Indian cricketer since the days of Ranjitsinhji and Col. Mistry, and he is the obvious captain.

There was a tussle at the Board of Control meeting as to whether the Nawab of Pataudi or C. K. Naydu should be captain, but the voting favoured the former.

Parker, the Interport and Police left-half, above, will make his debut as a forward in League soccer for the Police to-morrow afternoon against South China "A."

TWO BIG CRICKET
CLASHES

Lt. Comdr. Browning. Lt. Prowse and A. B. Dale will probably bear the brunt of the attack to-day, while A. R. Peatfield may also be called upon to bowl. They are all fastish bowlers, except Lt. Prowse.

The Navy will be without the services of Lt. Harper who bowled so well for the United Services against Shanghai, as he is on the casualty list with a sprained back muscle.

Kowloon-Army Match
Reverting to the Kowloon Army match, the home team have very powerful batting side out, though there is slight cause for anxiety as regards their bowling.

R. Holden, their new bowler who was tried out against the H.K.C.C. last week in a friendly match, is not playing as he has not yet been admitted as a member of the Club, owing to his not having attained the required age for membership.

Frank Goodwin, R. Lee, Ernie Fincher, F. S. W. Smith, W. Hing and F. Zimmerman will probably be called on to bowl, but apart from Goodwin and Lee, will the others be able to do anything against the strong Army batting?

Major Bonavia, Lt. Williams, Lt. Dawson and Lt. Garthwaite are a quartette that may be able to score 150 runs on their own, and it would not do to let any one of them get going.

As far as the Army bowling is concerned, Garthwaite will probably open with Fusilier King, and in this connection it would be well for King to remember that he must not send too many balls on the leg side if he is going to be useful. He tried this far too often against the Indians last week with disastrous results.

After the L.R.C. game I enquired why C. S. M. Elvin was not given a chance with the ball and was told that he was too fond of sending down a couple of full tosses early on. As he will most probably be called upon to bowl to-day we will have a chance to see whether he is really guilty of this shortcoming.

Garthwaite will have a lot of work ahead of him, but he rather likes bowling on the K.C.C. ground as the wind that invariably blows across the wicket will help his swing considerably. Cpl. Ballard, too, will have a stiff task ahead of him.

The Juniors
The Club juniors have quite a useful side out for their League fixture against the Navy second eleven on the Club ground, and I think they will win.

The Craigengower Cricketer Club second eleven meet the Bective at King's Park, and, despite their inferior form in their last two League games, I will not be at all surprised if the Portuguese team share the points with the C.C.C.

bearing on the championship is the clash between the Lincolns and the Fusiliers. The Lincolns have a game in hand, while both teams have secured the same number of points to date.

Good Junior Game
The Navy meet the Athletic juniors to-morrow in what should also develop into an exciting clash, although the former will probably win, as they will be strengthened by the arrival of the Kent and Dorsetshire.

The Chinese Police, who are making a determined bid for championship honours in this division are opposed to the Liga Portuguesa and their hopes are at present very bright. To-day's encounter will probably develop into a duel between the Police forwards and the Liga defence, and I am inclined to think that the former will triumph.

HO KAR KEUNG TO LEAD
CHINESE ATTACK?

In addition to the above game, the Navy are holding practically a new eleven drawn from the Dorsetshire and Kent, and should take both points from the Athletic newcomers for Santa.

The East Lancs entertain St. Joseph's on Sunday at Sookumpoo, where a rare tussle will probably result. The Saints have secured the services of some of their Third Division players and the result of this match will be eagerly looked forward to. The East Lancs have brought in German at left-half, filling in the vacancy caused by North leaving the Battalion for the Police Force.

In the Second Division to-day, the only match which has any

M. Laval Carries On

The controversy between democracy and dictatorship will not be solved by the misty verbiage of the sort of writer who floats on the literary market well-documented treatises on "national methodologies" and "national ideologies," and argues his case in general terms that often puzzle the student, and have not the remotest chance of being understood by the casual reader. It is a question of fact that will only be settled, if it does ever reach the stage of a definite settlement, by obvious results in practical achievement. That either form of government, or any of the intermediate compromises, has its own advantages and weaknesses is only what we might expect. The present struggle of France to keep its gold standard is only the latest test of popular government. Following the recent general election in England, we may feel relieved that both nations have shown that democracy is capable of a steady policy, and will stand by a leader so long as he appears to be doing his best.

For good or evil English policy is intertwined with the policy of the French Government, even though it differs in laying more stress on the necessity of bringing all the European countries together in an organisation for peace. What has made tension in the post-war years is that England has felt that France has taken the friendly alliance for granted and neglected to consult before-hand as to controversial decisions, or to give due weight to other points of view than her own. There is no need to mention more than the outstanding instance of the occupation of the Ruhr, but the whole tension is in one way or other due to the policies of M. Poincaré. Only the more sympathetic temperament of M. Briand made it possible to renew the former relationship of cordial co-operation, and the plan of acting with and through the League has been adopted as most likely to perpetuate the new accord.

These vacillations are an essential item in the price that any free people has to pay for the privilege of free discussion and free choice of a leader, for it stands to reason that the voting system will throw up alternately those who are for and those who are against any particular policy. The disadvantage is balanced by the additional strength gained by bringing the whole nation into support of the programme for which a majority has voted. If that does not happen—that nation is unsuited to the system. It would be impossible to draft a programme for France which should involve a sudden change over from the Croix de Feu, who are extreme Fascists, to Communism. Both of those parties hold opinions which they consider more binding than the Constitution itself, and a triumph for either could only mean a revolution. Parliamentary discussion cannot decide fundamental disagreements as to the functions of the State.

The outside world is concerned in the fate of the French Ministry because the two questions of the hour are of international even more than national importance. They are the question of the gold standard, and the question of supporting the League of Nations in its struggle with Italy. If France resorted to a managed currency there would be no big reserve of gold available for trade purposes outside of Washington, and that would mean that the American dollar would become the international standard unless the Washington authorities were to adopt a much more conciliatory attitude than there is any sign of at present. But so far as France is concerned, the devaluation of the franc would almost certainly be to the benefit of French trade. It has gradually come to be recognised that all this money controversy boils down to the query whether people attach most importance to a steady standard of value for internal trade or to foreign exchange. Until there is a more sensible spirit abroad it is not possible to secure both.

In the matter of sanctions it would be possible to argue that M. Laval, by securing postponements, has given to Italy greater concessions than she had any right to—in fact, concessions that might easily defeat the whole plan of war without bloodshed, which is what sanctions really mean. Just as there is the advantage in the slower methods of democracy that when you do get a decision it is supported by the whole nation, so the advantage of the League system is that by patience you can get the whole of the nations to act as one in supporting the League's decision. The promise of M. Laval to act in support of the other members, even by war, is really involved in the system, and an honourable obligation incurred by France in return for the delay and the opportunities for negotiation which they have so freely granted to him. Nonetheless it is an advantage that the foreign policy of France should remain in the hands of a man who already has all the strings in his hands, and that there will be no additional delay due to the need for a new man to get up his case.

If only the League could gain some sort of a success that would raise its prestige as an executive instrument, it would be possible to bring in the economic confusion for its re-education. Money touches too many interests too closely to be entrusted to anybody not of proved efficiency.

Here There and Everywhere.

CARNEGIE'S CUSTODIAN

The death of Mr. Robert A. Franks, the life trustee and vice-chairman of the Carnegie Corporation, removes yet another link with Andrew Carnegie.

Like "Andra" himself, Mr. Franks was born in the British Isles. He migrated to the United States in 1890.

His association with Carnegie began soon after his arrival.

Although engaged for many years in the steel-manufacturing business and a rich man himself, he will be remembered mainly because he was "Andra's" personal treasurer.

FREE HAND

Frank's position was unique in the history of the personal relations between employer and employee.

Although Carnegie would sometimes query insignificant bills and wander about the house putting out lights, he left Frank in sole charge of his vast fortune.

"I will have no one round me," he used to say "whom I cannot implicitly trust." And Frank's financial statements were never audited.

Occasionally, when Carnegie was more lavish than usual in his philanthropy, he would remonstrate.

"This year," he said once, "you've not only spent your income, but dived into capital as well."

Carnegie's only answer was a "delighted to hear it, my boy," and an approving slap on his treasurer's back.

Just the Man

A plumber joined the Royal Engineers, and was immediately given a test—the making of a joint for a lead pipe.

The senior N. C. O. sent a written report of the test to the commanding officer. It read: "Joint very well done."

Next day the man was appointed to the officers' mess.

ARMS ROUTES INTO ABYSSINIA SUPPLIES BY ROAD AND RAILWAY

MANY AVENUES AND METHODS CAN BE USED

(By A Military Correspondent)

HOW will the Abyssinians obtain their arms and ammunition now that the embargo is lifted? The question is of interest because the Abyssinians' lack of arms has much to do with the present position of the Italians in their country. Abyssinia is a loosely-knit confederation of tribes whose contributions to the State army in time of war take the form of levies. It is analogous to the English militia system of the Middle Ages, when counties and areas raised armed forces with which campaigns were fought. In the case of the Abyssinians this feudal system has meant the guarantee of numbers as distinct from armed men. In a levy muster from non-metropolitan provinces the arms carried would be primitive—sword, spear, and a few rifles. The Ras or district chief, being a law unto himself, could buy arms if he had the money, but otherwise for a national mobilisation the local barons look to the State for arms.

Against Italy they were promised rifles and ammunition. The embargo prevented this plan being fully prepared, and it was a strain on baronial loyalty to enter the field with but few modern rifles. It was at this point that the Italians jumped off quickly.

Embargo Lifted
Now, however, the embargo on export of arms from League countries to Abyssinia has been raised by the League; according to statements made in the Houses of Parliament there are big cargoes of arms and ammunition waiting to be shipped to Abyssinia; and the native tribesmen, mobilised in the hope of a modern quick-firing rifle, may perhaps see that hope realised.

For Abyssinia, however, there remains the question, can she arm her forces in time? I

SPEED ON AIR ROUTES

Faster Machines To Be Introduced

NEW BID FOR PROSPERITY IN ENGLAND

London. Air Line operators are considering plans for providing still faster machines on the British internal routes.

The volume of air traffic on the trunk routes this year shows a small increase over last year's figures, but the results are not very encouraging. Speed is the key which will open the door to prosperity.

This year transport firms have had twin and four-engined machines capable of carrying up to 12 and 14 passengers at 130 to 140 m.p.h. It is not enough.

TOP SPEED OF 268 M.P.H. There has lately been produced by the Bristol Aeroplane Co. the world's fastest air liner.

It developed the top speed of 268 m.p.h. and a cruising speed of 240 m.p.h. Then the Air Ministry ordered nearly 200 machines for the Home Defence Force. So machines are not yet available for aircraft lines.

This machine can take 12 or more passengers. Its two radial air-cooled Pegasus engines will develop some 1,400 h.p., and in this respect it compares with the American Douglas machine, though it is miles faster.

IN 45 MINUTES

An air liner cruising at 240 m.p.h. would reach cities like Liverpool, Manchester, Leeds and Plymouth in 45 minutes flying time from Heston or Croydon.

It is presumed that civil aviation models will be available by 1937.

By that year we should have radio beacons and lighted airways, floodlit aerodromes and "blind approach" systems fitted everywhere for night and day flying in all weathers.

$70,000 AIR ORDER

Australia-New Zealand Service Likely

SPECIAL ENVOY ARRIVES IN ENGLAND

London. A special envoy from Australia has just arrived in this country and will place a $70,000 order for flying boats for the Sydney (Australia) and Hobart (Tasmania) air service.

He is Flying Officer B. Sheil, personal assistant to Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and director of the Trans-Tasman Air Service Development Co., Ltd., Sydney.

Mr. Sheil is negotiating for the delivery of machines which will have a 2,000-mile range, a cruising speed of not less than 150 miles an hour, and a capacity of 20 passengers and 2,000 lbs. of mail.

In view of the range required, there seems to be little doubt that the intention is to operate as far as New Zealand.

If traffic justifies, more machines may be ordered. Mr. Sheil was in charge of the flying portion of the Duke of Gloucester's recent tour of Australia.

CIVIL AIRPORT AT LIMA

A new civil and commercial airport is under construction at Lima, Peru, and when in operation will service for all non-military air-planes.

SERVICEABLE U.S. AIRSHIP

The ZMC-2, a metal-clad dirigible stationed at the Lakehurst naval air station for nearly six years, is second only to the Graf Zeppelin in period of service and experience among active airships.

Britain is contesting the claim of the United States to three tiny South Pacific islands—Jarvis, Howland and Baker—which Pan American Airways has picked as bases for the China Clipper (below) and other planes in the trans-Pacific service.

WAS AMELIA DECORATED BY ITALY?

Misunderstanding Arises

ITALO BALBO MEDAL RETURNED

Chicago.

Amelia Earhart Putnam has returned the Italo Balbo medal presented to her by the former Italian Consul-General here last May, which she was given to understand was from the Italian Government, but which he now explains was a gift from him personally.

The action of Dr. Giuseppe Castruccio, in face of an inscription on the leather case: "Conferred on Amelia Earhart by the Italian Government, May 23, 1935." The Fascist ideology subordinates women. Dr. Castruccio has been transferred to Las Paulo, Brazil, and is on the way there.

Miss Earhart understood, as did the 2,500 Chicago clubwomen before whom the ceremony was performed, that the recognition of her flying achievements was official.

Honour Withdrawn? But somewhere the procedure misfired. It is not clear whether representations were made to Miss Earhart that award of the medal had been a mistake. Some reports go so far as to say that the Italian Government withdrew the honour.

Dr. Castruccio called Miss Earhart's attention to newspaper accounts stating that the award had been official. Instead, it was personal on his part, he explained, a token of his personal admiration and "devotion."

Upon receipt of the letter containing this information, Miss Earhart, who became Mrs. George Palmer Putnam in 1931, promptly decided to return the medal.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Putnam are understood to believe that Fascist policy toward women is responsible for the fiasco. During her visit to Rome after her solo Pacific flight, she was entertained, but awarded no medals.

NEW AERODROMES FOR PARIS

Plan Sponsored By Ministry

Paris.

General Denain, Minister for Air, is proposing to build new aerodromes round Paris. Two are to be used by air force reserves for training purposes.

One or two new aerodromes will also be set aside for tourist and light aerodromes. Only airport will henceforth be reserved exclusively for civil machines.

DUST HAZARD LESSENED

The municipal airport at Salt Lake City will be resurfaced to reduce dust hazard.

SCARING GEESE BY AEROPLANE

Niagara Falls Project

DANGER OF MEETING THEIR DEATH

Niagara Falls.

Aeroplanes will be sent roaring over the Niagara River rapids in an attempt to frighten thousands of geese away from treacherous waters which threaten to sweep them over Niagara Falls, the State conservation department announced recently.

The Navy offered to send planes to the falls, but Mr. Lithgow Osborne, conservation commissioner, decided first to seek the assistance of private fliers. A Rochester aviator, whose name the commissioner did not know, was the first to volunteer.

"We may yet accept the Navy's offer," Mr. Osborne said.

For two days the geese, apparently unaware of their own peril, had been swimming in the river. After floating down toward the brink of the falls, they began flying back upstream again. Unless they would be driven away, game wardens feared they would become too weary to fly and perish in the falls.

Other Efforts Fail

Ordinary efforts to scare off the flock failed. Searchlights on the Canadian ledge were winked, shotguns boomed at them, even rockets hissed toward them—but the geese wouldn't leave.

It was believed the only solution was for the birds to "take a hint" and either continue their south-bound trip or fly to a safer resting place of their own accord. It is not usual for geese to settle on the perilous river during their migrations as the broad expanse of the Niagara is a regular "scheduled" stop.

There have been years when the mortality rate among the geese was exceedingly high. In 1932 hundreds of them were dashed over the falls to destruction, but as a rule, they get away with only a few casualties.

Miss Amelia Earhart, above, the well-known American aviator, has been asked to return an Italian decoration which was apparently erroneously bestowed upon her.

NEW GERMAN AEROPLANE

High-Speed Junkers Machine For London Run

Berlin. The new Junkers "JU 86," which will be taken into service shortly by the German Lufthansa Co., can attain a maximum speed of 225 miles an hour at a height of 6,500 feet, and has a cruising speed of 212 miles an hour. This will bring London within less than three hours reach of Berlin.

NEW SUPER DRONE

Easy-Flying Small Machine

COSTS 2D. PER AIR MILE TO RUN

London.

The prejudice against the ultra-light aeroplane is being overcome by the new Super Drone. This aeroplane has certain characteristics peculiar to itself.

Developed from the original design of the late Mr. Lowe-Wilde, it is powered with a 25-h.p. Douglas engine modified for air work.

The load carried by each square foot of the wings is about half that of the ordinary light aeroplane. This feature enables the machine to develop a performance much greater than one would expect from its horsepower.

Low Running Costs

The new model now being built will have a maximum speed of 70 m.p.h. with a landing speed of only 22 m.p.h., while at the normal cruising speed of 60 m.p.h. the aeroplane does 48 air miles to the gallon.

The running cost (including fuel and oil, depreciation, insurance, housing and repairs) is only twopenny per air mile.

Although it is a single seater it is claimed that it is as easy to learn to fly on the Drone as on any glider.

The model has not received a certificate of airworthiness, because the engine does not comply with all requirements, and the aeroplane does not reach the standard rate of climb laid down by the International Commission for Aerial Navigation.

Better Performance

But the Drone, owing to its low climbing speed of 40 m.p.h., has a greater angle of climb at 388 ft. per minute than many aeroplanes that possess the official certificate, and the Air Ministry has issued a special permit for it to fly anywhere within the United Kingdom.

The Drone has the same permission in France and Belgium, and is now manufactured in France by the Societe Francaise Aviation Nouvelle.

In France it is known as the Sfan.

It is expected that other countries also will soon grant permission for the machine to fly over their territory, especially since the practicability of the aeroplane was demonstrated by the flight of Capt. Thoret across the Alps from France to Turin and back in a Sfan.

EXPEDITION TO AMAZON

British Planes To Be Used

Two DH Moth Major aeroplanes, fitted with floats, will be taken on the Amazon expedition which will start from Spain this month. The Spanish Ministry of Education is providing funds up to about $500,000.

The expedition will explore the more remote waters of the Amazon in a specially designed flat-bottomed boat. The aeroplanes, which will be housed in a hangar on deck, will be used for advance reconnaissance, seeking suitable bases, and taking photographs for mapping.

NEW PLANE FOR U.S. ARMY

The U.S. Army spent about $10,000,000 for new planes in 1934.

WORLD STRIKING FIGURES

FINE RECORD OF PROGRESS

Higher Mileage But Fewer Deaths

RISKS OF PRIVATE PILOTS ANALYSED

London.

Striking figures showing the steady increase of safety in British air transport were quoted by Mr. C. F. B. Richardson in an address to the Institute of Actuaries in London recently.

In 1929, when British aviation companies carried 28,327 passengers on their regular air routes at home and abroad, 13 passengers were killed. The number of passenger miles flown was 7,147,000.

In 1934, when the number of passenger miles—29,091,000—had been more than quadrupled, and the number of passengers had increased nearly five times—135,000—only nine were killed.

During the six years 1929-34 inclusive only 44 passengers lost their lives, a mortality rate of 130 per 1,000 passenger flights and 505 per 100,000 passenger miles flown.

FOREIGN FATALITIES

Passenger fatalities rates in leading foreign countries, stated Mr. Richardson, were:

Country	1928-32	Deaths Carried
United States	1928-32	109 1,703,549
Germany	1927-31	32 517,310
France	1927-31	43 122,449
Italy	1928-32	9 155,974
Holland	1929-31	13 109,866

Discussing risks of private pilots, Mr. Richardson said age appeared to have little effect on the mortality rate, although pilots under 28 tended to have a higher mortality than older men. The mortality of student pilots was low, but they showed a heavy mortality after qualifying.

"Aviation is a new hazard that is entering more and more into our business," he added, "and the life insurance companies will be forced sooner or later to face the problem and find a solution for it."

AIR FORCE PLAN IN S. AFRICA

Five-Year Expansion Scheduled

Johannesburg.

The Union Government is embarking on a five-year plan for Air Force expansion which, when completed, will make South Africa the equal in the air of any second-rate Power.

The programme visualises 250 new machines and 3,000 air mechanics and 1,000 pilots, including the permanent force and reserves.

The "planes will be built at Pretoria under licence. The first two models, Hawker Hartbeestes, have already arrived. Others will be imported periodically to keep up with the latest improvements.

U.S. AIR SERVICE TO NEW ZEALAND

Planned To Start Next Year

Wellington.

Mr. Coates, the Prime Minister, announces the completion of arrangements with the Pan-American Airways for a service between the United States and New Zealand.

It will probably be started with flying-boats next August from the Auckland terminal, and will carry passengers and mail.

FUEL AND OIL

An average aeroplane flies 2.6 miles on a gallon of gasoline, and about 100 miles on a gallon of lubricating oil.

CANADA'S SERVICES

Canadian aircraft in 1934 flew 68,497,637 miles in 75,871 air-craft-hours.

BRITISH SECURITY

FOUR ENGINES Every air liner of these great companies employed on the main routes has four engines. RIGOROUS FLYING TESTS are applied to every type of air liner of these companies, not only by them but by the Air Ministry as well.

AFTER EACH FLIGHT every air liner has its engines and its whole structure meticulously examined in strict accordance with Air Ministry rules.

AN OFFICIAL LICENSED BY THE AIR MINISTRY satisfies himself that each of these air liners is absolutely fit for duty before it is allowed to start on any journey in any part of the world.

AFTER A SPECIFIED NUMBER OF WORKING HOURS all the engines in every air liner are stripped, re-built and tested, and this applies to every part of the route throughout Europe and the British Empire.

THE CAPTAINS of the air liners of Imperial Airways and its associated companies are the most experienced body of pilots employed by any air transport company in the world.

NO OVERWEIGHT is ever carried by these air liners. Every gallon of petrol, oil and water, every passenger and all mail and luggage is weighed before leaving the ground.

CHINESE ART EXHIBITION

Amazing Success
In London

NUMBER OF FOREIGNERS
ASTONISHING

British Textile World
Keenly Interested

London, To-day.
The Duke and Duchess of Kent will accompany Their Majesties the King and Queen to the Chinese Art Exhibition to-morrow, when they will be shown round by Mr. Quo Tai-chi, Chinese Ambassador in London. Other royalties will also be in the party.

There is every indication that the Exhibition will be an unprecedented success. Thursday was the first public day, and there were over 3,000 visitors, 1,000 more than visited the British Art Exhibition. This is believed to be a record.

Yesterday, despite the 5s. entrance fee, the galleries were crowded. Turnstile keepers, asked how the attendance compared with that at bygone exhibitions, said: "Extraordinarily good; seldom anything like it."

Pretty Chinese Girls

The stalls in the entrance hall, where two pretty Chinese girls in lovely red silk Chinese dresses are assisting, are driving a brisk trade in photographs of the exhibits.

The number of foreigners is astonishing. The language of every country in Europe is overheard. Nearly 40 recognised specialists in Chinese art, four from Germany alone, have arrived, specially sent by the newspapers of most of the European countries to write up the exhibition. A leading firm of Paris dressmakers is bringing out a long series of new costumes incorporating the Chinese influence.

Enquiries from literary, cultural and commercial institutions throughout the Continent regarding cheap travel and entrance facilities are pouring into Burlington House daily.

Textile World Interested

The British textile world is keenly interested. The President and entire council of the Bradford Chamber of Commerce are arranging a visit to the Exhibition, as the result of a report from their experts, specially sent to it.

Sir Percival David yesterday inaugurated a series of lectures arranged by the Royal Society adjoining Burlington House during the course of the Exhibition. The Crown Prince of Sweden presided. The demand for tickets is three times the capacity of the hall. Already every seat for the hall for the whole series is sold out.

A noticeable tendency of visitors is to concentrate in one gallery, indicating their intention to make further visits. The most popular room yesterday appeared to be that housing the Shangyin Chou bronzes. Many exclamations of admiration of their beautiful shapes and rich chasing were overheard.—Reuter.

NEW ROUTINE REQUIRED

The Negro And His Italian Song

New York.

Fresh from a tour of Italy and full of admiration for Bel Canto, Magistrate Frank Oliver faced a negro street musician accused of causing a disturbance by his playing of popular airs.

"I be good musician," asserted the negro, George Williams, asserted. "I play you 'Isle of Capri'."

And he played the tune on his guitar, while the court listened.

The magistrate complimented him on his playing and gave him a brief description of Capri before dismissing the case.

"Your Honour," asked the negro, "did I understand you to say that Capri is in Italy?"

To the magistrate's affirmative, the negro replied: "Mussolini! 'Til certainly have to change my routine." —Reuter.

Flaming wreckage almost incinerated Constantino Vlachos, Washington, D.C., inventor, indicated by arrow as he is being pulled from a burning contraption with which he tried to fly. The motor exploded and but for the prompt action of a policeman, the daring inventor would have perished.

TALK OF THE TOWN

3-Year Old Child's Amazing Feat

ACCURATE REPLIES TO QUESTIONS

Gering, Nebraska.—Mary Reichert, a little tot of three, is the talk of the town, after amazing District Court Officials and others with her quick, accurate replies to questions about American Government.

Mary, whose parents are Russian immigrants, went to court with her mother, who sought, and was granted, American citizenship.

Frightened by the spectators, and clinging to her father's hand, the little girl stood beside the desk of Judge George Irwin, while her father asked her several questions. She replied off accurate replies, using words which she could hardly pronounce.

Some Questions

"Who is the Speaker of the House?" Mr. Reichert asked. "Byrnes is," Mary replied. "What does Congress do?" was the next question.

"Makes laws," Mary instantly replied.

"What is the Eighteenth Amendment?"

Mary smoothed down her dress and then replied: "Can't drink." "What is the Twenty-first Amendment?" her father enquired.

"Peaks the Eighteenth Amendment," Mary replied loudly.

Attended Classes

The child knew the salaries earned by the President, the Vice-President, and the name of the President, as well as several other facts.

She gained her knowledge from accompanying her mother to a Federal Emergency Relief Administration class on citizenship which her mother attended in order to pass the test required before she could become a naturalised American.—Reuter.

FOR MILITARY TRANSPORT

Special Department In Czechoslovakia

Prague.

A special department of the Czechoslovakia Ministry of Railways is now to be devoted to questions affecting military transport.

These will be entirely separated from matters in which civil transport alone is involved, and special time-tables will be published for exclusive military purposes.

The value of this new department in rapid mobilisation of an army would be very great, it is pointed out, and in peace time there will be plenty of work to do in connection with soldiers' leave and the calling-up, for examination or service, of men coming under the general conscription scheme.—Reuter.

MADAME MADALAH MASSON

Madame Madalah Masson, who entertained Hong Kong audiences last April with two excellent piano-forte concerts, is arriving in the Colony towards the end of next week and will in all probability give a concert a few days after her arrival. Details will be published at a later date.

RECOVERY FROM DEPRESSION

Canada Compared To
United States

MORE FAVOURABLE SHOWING

Ottawa.—Canada has made more progress towards recovery than the United States, according to a recent survey made by the Bank of Montreal.

Possibly the explanation lies in the fact that Canada is a young and vigorous country, considerably later in its development of natural resources than the United States.

Total production in the first six months of 1935 was, the report states, slightly above parity with the first six months of 1926, the year taken as the base year by statisticians. The United States, however, attained only 80 per cent of such parity.

Increased Activity

In a number of respects Canadian activity is now above that of 1926. Both imports and exports are substantially lower, reflecting the falling-off of international trade. But the electrical energy generated is more than double the 1926 level.

Nickel exports have been more than double. Gold shipments have been nearly double. Copper exports in the period under examination are over three times as much as they were in the first half of 1926.

The production of newsprint amounted to 1,285,000 tons, as compared with 893,750 tons in the same period of 1926.

Wholesale prices are substantially lower, standing at 71.9 compared with 101.3 in 1926.

Employment is slightly higher, the index being at 95.3 as compared with 92.2 in 1926.

Most of the individual manufacturing industries, for which comparable figures are available, make a more favourable showing in Canada than in the United States.—Reuter.

UNION CHURCH CONCERT

MacLean, the newly appointed Minister and his wife, will be present. The concert is in aid of church funds.

One case of diphtheria was reported to the Health authorities during the 24 hours ended on Thursday.

To-day's Short Story

Modern Conveniences

By Germaine
Beaumont

THE ghost at the Castle of Langreux, who was known as the Green Knight on account of the mildew on his effigy, was in the habit of heating a pointed steel shoe on one of the radiators when he wanted to iron his shroud for important occasions—when there were guests at the castle, for instance. In this way he had the use of a convenient flat-iron for nothing and warmed himself very comfortably into the bargain, for generations of confined living had left him in delicate health. However, during an unusually gloomy spring the central heating fell off so badly that he was obliged to present an appearance that troubled his fastidiousness acutely, and he was continually catching colds.

And that was not all. He was also in the habit of spending part of the summer in the refrigerator, where the invigorating quality of the coolness made his old resort, the cellars, seem tame; but at the very beginning of the dog days he found that the electricity had been cut off, and existence in the hot weather suddenly changed to a hardship.

When ordinary people encounter aspects of this kind they lose no time either in complaining or in having matters put right. But the case of ghosts is more complicated, for obvious reasons. The Green Knight tried placing himself, with a melancholy air, in the path of his descendant, the present owner of the castle. But Monsieur de Langreux saw nothing and walked clean through him.

The Green Knight then made use of a subterfuge. He took to coughing at night. Mme. de Langreux heard him and shook her husband in bed.

MONDAY'S STORY

Monday's story will be
"Major Cole's Third Shot,"
by Nigel Balchin.

"Do you heard that noise, Bando?"

M. de Langreux was not asleep. "Alas, Yolande, I hear it only too well. It's the gutters, I fear. If they give way now under the leaves that are choking them it will be the end of everything."

"Are we as badly off as that?"

"We've practically nothing. I paid the income-tax yesterday. What more is there to be said?"

Accordingly they said no more for the moment. They were not young, and the prospect of poverty as they got older was not stimulating.

The Green Knight, annoyed at being taken for an overflowing gutter, stood transparently at the foot of the bed. Remarkably enough, it was the two people lying beneath their bed-clothes who looked as if they were dead, and the dead man's ghost, standing upright, who seemed alive.

Mme. de Langreux put an end to the silence.

"But what's to be done, Bando? If we've really nothing left and everything is mortgaged, how are we to live?"

"We must sell the castle, Yolande. When the mortgages are paid there will perhaps be just enough for us to exist on."

The Green Knight emitted a rending sigh.

The windows no longer shut properly," said Mme. de Langreux. "Did you hear that draught in the room?"

"A gutter! And now a draught!" murmured the Green Knight to himself. "There is no respect left in the world. And if these wretched people sell the castle what will become of me? I'm to be left continually exposed to heat and cold while the place falls to ruin, apparently, for no one is likely to burden himself with the upkeep of a castle these days."

Meanwhile M. and Mme. de Langreux continued their lamentations in the darkness.

"And to think," said Mme. de Langreux, "that the Green Knight's treasure is supposed to be hidden here somewhere and no one has ever found it!"

"My treasure! That's the last straw!"

The Green Knight ground his teeth, whereupon M. de Langreux remarked:

"You were right: the wind is getting up. I can hear the vane creaking. Let's hope it won't keep us awake. I think we had better try to get some sleep, Yolande. Perhaps the night will bring counsel."

The Green Knight, outraged at now being taken for a windvane, withdrew to his tomb in the chapel. The tomb was stuffy and uncomfortable and his thoughts were taking a profoundly painful course. It has to be said that the events which brought Hilarion de Langreux to become the Green Knight were to do with his ruthless avarice. In order to get possession of the fortune of his wife, Valentine de Juvisy, he had not scrupled to make away with her. (Continued on Page 10)

ROSE DAY APPEAL

Examination Of One's
Personal AccountsHOW DO THE ENTRIES
STAND FOR "ALMS?"

Before December 2 there should be an examination of accounts in Hong Kong. There should be an examination, with oneself as the auditor, of one's entries. What would they reveal? What sums under the headings food, drink, tobacco, bridge, petrol, magazines, cinema? Would there be any entry under "Alms"? The poor are calling. Their call should make us examine our attitude towards them during the past year. Their call should make us examine our accounts. The poor are calling, but the heart-breaking S.O.S. from heart-broken mothers, from distracted fathers, or from starving children may never be relayed to you. The call of the poor is heard by the members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society and they come in the name of the poor, to ask you to buy a rose on Rose Day.

Many are hardened against all appeals for alms. The reason often is that they have given generously in the past and have found out to their disgust that they have given to the undeserving, to swindlers, to liars, and that the money has been spent in gambling and for procuring opium, etc. It is a bitter thing to have been so fooled, and the result has been that many have closed their purse-strings with the refrain "Never again" and they have closed their cheque-book against the poor and have adopted for their motto the misused proverb: "Charity begins at home," and it ends there.

Experts In Distribution

People would be more generous if they knew that what they give would be well used. Now, by giving to the St. Vincent de Paul Society you are giving to those who are experts in the matter of distribution. The members have banded themselves together to visit the homes of the poor and to find out the real deserving cases. They go to the slums, climb up to the garrets, they meet those who are starving, they see the sick who have no attendance, those who have been the victims of injustice and cruelty, those who have known better times and have been reduced to the utmost want. They examine each case, find out the genuineness of the claim and then give consolation and the help which you and others have sent. They charge no commission. They add to your contributions from their own pockets.

Put yourselves in the place of the poor whom they visit. How would you like to be treated and receive a visit from a helper if you were ill, if your children were starving, if you and those dear to you were threatened with eviction? The members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society bring consolation and happiness to these.

Lack Of Funds
The only thing which limits their zeal is lack of funds. Rose Day is to remind you of their need. Some can afford to give only 10 cents. Others can afford to give $1. But dollars this year are scarce, and so let those who can afford it write a cheque. Some of you may not meet a rose seller. Duty or business or pleasure may not bring you to the centre of the city. Do not forget to send your subscription. Let the call of charity and the certainty that what you give will be used for truly deserving cases impel you to open that safe of yours, or to take pen in hand to write a cheque. Give generously. Let not the alms entry in your account books cause your generous heart to wither with shame.

The Best Investment
Those of you who are followers of Christ it is hardly necessary to remind of His reference to the cup of cold-water given in His name. You know that whatever you have that is good has come from your Father who is in heaven. It is your privilege to be able to return Him something. By giving to the poor in His name you are giving to Him by proxy. It is the greatest and best of all investments. It brings to you the gratitude and the love of God. Be generous to the poor and you will find that God will be generous to you. He is never prodigal in generosity.

ARMS ROUTES INTO ABYSSINIA

Railway Again
A few miles beyond is Dire-dawa and the railway again, with good approach tracks through the Harar Hills. General Nasibu has good native transport to meet the Somali convoys at the frontier. It would not be difficult to import 500,000 rifles, guns, and ammunition in eight weeks if ships were to start loading immediately Abyssinian cash or credit were available in the various shipment capitals.

If the Italians occupied eastern Abyssinia and cut across these sea routes of supply the Abyssinians would have to turn their backs to the west and would need supplies from that desert direction.

But there would still be a seaport open to them—Port Sudan, the sea link of Khar-tum. A railway runs from this port through Sinkat, Haiya, Derudeb, and Kassala to Gedaref. The latter is one hundred miles from the Abyssinian border by a caravan route which follows the telegraph line to Gallabat, on the left flank of Ras Kassa's and Ras Seyum's forces.

The route is in regular trade with the Sudan and with dhows running imports across the Red Sea from Arabia. From the rail at Gedaref to Gallabat is six hours by motor convoy.

Southern Entry

If the Italian advance necessitated a more southerly route, the point of entry could be shifted to the Blue Nile at Gambode (below Roseires), where the caravan route connects with the Sudan rail at Sennar. Here the distance is 200 miles of main post road and track, but with part of the Blue Nile navigable. This route is thus still based on the sea at Port Sudan.

Finally, if the Abyssinians were driven farther south there remains the more lengthy route from railhead at Kosti to Kurmuk, or proceeding by the White Nile and Sobat river and crossing the frontier near Machar to the fortified post of Gambela on the Baro river.

These routes are on the main post and telegraph road as far as El Gahak, then part road and track. The White Nile reaches maximum flood at the end of October and the Sobat in the middle of November.

Thus the sea base at Port Sudan could feed the caravan routes from three railheads to supply the northern and southern armies.

Permits for importation are, however, controlled by the Minister of the Interior and Sudan Agent in Cairo and by the Port-Commissioner at Port Sudan. An export licence from the country of origin is a first essential, so that our Government would first have to approve such trading.

Then, still out of cupidity, he had killed his cousin, the Squire of Bery. Finally, by a series of felonious manoeuvres, he had seized the funds of a neighbouring abbey. The outcome of all this was that, having collected a large fortune in money and valuables and carefully hidden it away, he found himself, at his death, refused admittance to the next world.

"Since money is what you love, stay with your money," St. Peter had notified him. "Stay with your money until you have spent it to the very last coin. Only then will these gates be open to you, my robber friend. And take good care that you spend it straightforwardly and well, or it's the infernal regions that will have a claim to you, not these."

And now the Green Knight held a colloquy with himself which outdid, by its alternations, the standards of The Cid.

"Why," he said, "am I the object of these unprovoked injuries? Must I face death from the cold each winter, henceforward, and death from the heat in the summer? This is indeed an unjust world! Without the comforts I have grown used to during these last years I shall certainly die slowly of exposure. But to give up my treasure! What is that but to die, too? And could any other death be as painful?"

This went on for a long time. The summer without the refrigerator had been almost insupportable. Night after sleepless night he groaned and grew weak in the heat. Oh for the days when he used to help himself to keel claret-wood while the cook's back was turned! There was a short and temperate respite in the autumn; but at the first grim breath of winter he made up his mind.

M. and Mme. de Langreux were taking a last look round, before putting the castle up for sale. The Green Knight followed them until they were all three together in the right place. It was the last possible moment. Then he surreptitiously pushed a stone, which swung on a pivot and disclosed a hiding-place in the wall.

M. de Langreux thought he had done it himself by accident. His eyes nearly came out of his head.

"The treasure!" he stammered. "The treasure, Yolande!"

"Now they can order some coal for the winter," said the Green Knight. "Perhaps they will still be in time to get it at summer prices."

But he found difficulty in articulating these remarks, even to himself. Already the figures of his descendants, who were on their knees and babbling with joy before boxes of gold coins and jewellery, were becoming indistinct. He just had time to observe, without the least ironic intention: "Anybody would think they were a couple of ghosts." Already the air was full of the twang of harps and the jangle of Peter's keys.

But Baudouin de Langreux had a peculiar sensation at the sight of so much wealth, which was that of a man who is about to die. It was a feeling of utter repugnance to him to share it with his wife. The only way to avoid sharing it was to do away with Yolande, which he did by poisoning her discreetly. Consequently, upon his own death, he became the Green Knight in accordance with the family tradition.

FRANCE'S CLEAR STAND
London: The recent assurances given to Britain as to the attitude that would be assumed by the French Government in the event of conflict being provoked by Italy in consequence of the application of sanctions by the Covenant-enforcing Powers were, according to press reports from Paris, repeated to Signor Cerruti on Thursday during an interview between Laval and the Italian Ambassador.

It is stated that the French Prime Minister made it clear that the French Government stands by its ruling to continue in full co-operation with the other Powers in fulfilling the obligations of the Covenant, and further, that any attack on Britain or other League States engaged in carrying out such obligations would be interpreted by France as an attack on all the League States, which France would join in resisting.

It is felt that the removal of any misunderstanding which may still have lingered in some quarters regarding the attitude of France in such an eventuality should conduce to an improvement of the situation and contribute to the hastening early re-establishment of peace in East Africa. The joint efforts of the French and British Governments to find a possible basis for settlement are continuing.—British Wireless Service.

ORGANISED PROCESSION IN LONDON?

London, To-day.—In a letter to the Trades' Union Council regarding the visit of about 10,000 German football enthusiasts to London next week to watch the international match between Britain and Germany, on the Tottenham ground at White Hart Lane, the Home Secretary, Sir John Simon, says he welcomes the Council's recent approach to him on the subject, as enabling him to state that "Wednesday's match has no political significance whatever. It is a game of football which nobody need attend unless he wishes, and I hope that all who take an interest in it from any side will do their utmost to discourage the idea that a sporting fixture in this country has any political implications."

The Trades Union Council have replied, accepting the offer of the Home Secretary to receive a deputation on Monday, and pointing out that any concern they expressed was aroused not by the match, but by suggestions of an organised procession of the visitors to the ground.—British Wireless Service.

THIS MORNING'S WEDDING

Moran — Phelps

ST. MARGARET'S CHURCH CEREMONY

A very pretty wedding was solemnised this morning at 8.30 o'clock at St. Margaret's Church, Broadwood Road, the Rev. Fr. Page officiating, between Mr. Hugh Nicholas Moran, of Police Headquarters, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Moran of Gloucester and Liverpool, and Miss Iris Mary Phelps, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. T. Phelps, of No. 53c Wongnei-chong Road.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a wedding dress of white angel's skin silk lace, surmounted with a wreath of orange blossoms and an embroidered veil kindly lent by a friend. She carried a prayerbook bound in white kid, presented by the bridegroom, and was attended by her elder sister, Miss Madeline Frances Phelps, as bridesmaid, dressed in powder-blue silk net, with hat and shoes to match. The bride's mother wore a smart brown-georgette frock and the duties of best man were efficiently performed by Mr. A. W. Hircock.

The wedding was followed by a reception held at the bride's home. The happy couple are to spend their honeymoon in England, leaving by the s.s. Corfu. The bride's going-away dress was a powder-blue tweed suit, trimmed in Russian style with grey squirrel fur, with hat and shoes to match. Mr. and Mrs. Moran were the recipients of a large number of presents, the bride's gift to the groom being a set of dress studs and buttons, while the groom's gift to the bride was a dressing table set in silver and enamel.
